Of arrow-root there are about fifty tons produced, valued at nearly $4,000, which revenue, included with the above, will make the sum of nearly $28,000 as the value derived from the agricultural productions of all these islands. If they were under proper cultivation, this amount would be greatly increased; and from the estimate of a competent person, it was believed that the productions might yield, if properly attended to, a revenue of $300,000, as coffee, cotton, and indigo might be added to the above articles; but this is undoubtedly an estimation one-half too great, and would require an amount of labour that the present native population are inadequate to perform, and which their climate, wants, and desires will never probably excite them to, or render necessary.
