

that his residence on Ambatiki was a forced one, and that it was as though he was living out of the world, rearing pigs, fowls, and children. Of the last description of live-stock he had forty-eight, and hoped that he might live to see fifty born to him. He had had one hundred wives.

FEEJEE AVA-BOWLS AND DRINKING-CUPS.