

Fig. 65. Ideal Landscape of the Coal Period.

where in bleak, inhospitable exposures. Occasionally in a low valley was gathered a cluster of dwarfish trees, nourished by the crude aliment of a hastily-compounded soil. Beast, and bird, and insect were yet slumbering in the