

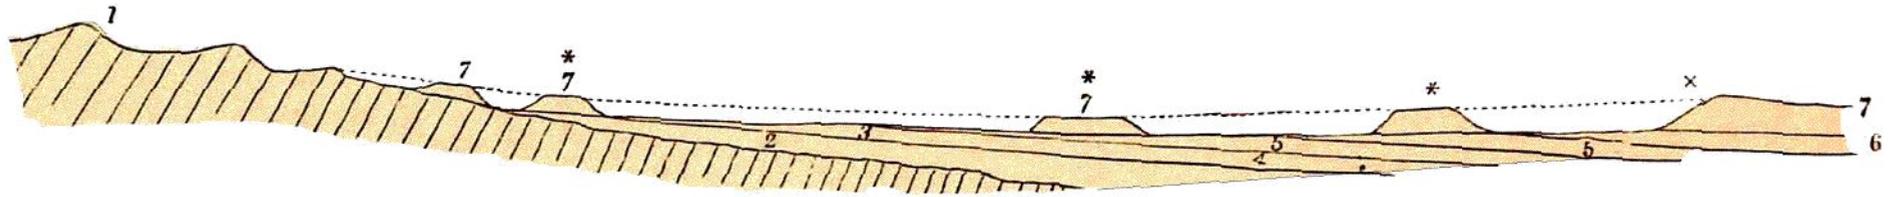

FIG. 59.

Overlap of the Oolitic and other Strata by Cretaceous Formations.

1. Represents the Palæozoic strata. 2. The New Red beds. 3. The Lias. 4, 5, 6. Various members of the Oolites, and 7. The upper Cretaceous strata. The dotted line represents the original continuation of the Chalk westward, the slope marked x the present escarpment of the Chalk, and the hills marked with asterisks (*) outlying patches of the same, the relics left by old denudations, and which help to prove the original far westward extension of the Upper Cretaceous strata.
