

CHAPTER VI

The Rise of Geological Travel—Pallas, De Saussure, - pp. 176-191

CHAPTER VII

History of the Doctrine of Geological Succession—Arduino, Lehmann, Füchsel, Werner, - - - - pp. 192-236

CHAPTER VIII

The Wernerian School of Geology—Its great initial influence and subsequent decline. Effect of the controversy about the origin of Basalt upon this School. Early history of Volcanic Geology.
History of opinion regarding Earthquakes, - - pp. 237-279

CHAPTER IX

The Rise of the modern conception of the theory of the Earth—
Hutton, Playfair, - - - - - pp. 280-316

CHAPTER X

Birth of Experimental Geology—Sir James Hall. Decay of Wernerianism, - - - - - pp. 317-332

CHAPTER XI

The Rise of Stratigraphical Geology and of Palæontology in France
—Giraud-Soulavie, Lamarck, Cuvier, Brongniart, and Omalius
d'Halloy, - - - - - pp. 333-377

CHAPTER XII

The Rise of Stratigraphical Geology in England—Michell, White-hurst, William Smith, Thomas Webster, the Geological Society of London, W. H. Fitton. Early teachers and textbooks. Influence of Lyell, - - - - - pp. 378-405