

CHAPTER XIII

Progress of Stratigraphical Geology—The Transition or Greywacke formation resolved by Sedgwick and Murchison into the Cambrian, Silurian and Devonian systems. The Primordial Fauna of Barrande. The pre-Cambrian rocks first begun to be set in order by Logan, - - - - - pp. 406-437

CHAPTER XIV

Progress of Stratigraphical Geology continued—Influence of Charles Darwin. Adoption of Zonal Stratigraphy of fossiliferous rocks. Rise of Glacial Geology, Louis Agassiz. Development of Geological map-making in Europe and North America, pp. 438-461

CHAPTER XV

The Rise of Petrographical Geology—William Nicol, Henry Clifton Sorby. Conclusion, - - - - - pp. 462-473

INDEX, - - - - - p. 474